

TWO NATIONS, ONE DESIGNER, HANNO GIESLER

Landed in Italy over twenty years ago, drawn by the Milan design scene, so smart and artistic in those years, he established himself in the core of the Italian design production, in Cantù – Brianza region. His design concept is therefore positioned between the accurate and functional German world and the Italian refinement and fantasy. The Berlin-born Hanno Giesler, after taking his degree in interior design in 1991, jointly works with Michele de Lucchi's studio in Milan, where he learns how to work on big interior design projects such as Deutsche Bank, Sparkasse and Deutsche Bahn. He gradually sets up his own business and in 2003 he kicks off his own studio in Cantù. Today he works with a number of furniture manufacturers for both standard and bespoke items. He develops a lot of projects for JC Passion from the Jumbo group in a classic style which gets revamped through modern elements and materials inserted into a deco backdrop. For the Pacini & Cappellini firm in Cabiato he designs an innovative gamut of convertible tables, conceived in order to seat up more people in a way which is easy and ingenious: the patented mechanism allows for an extension of the table length- and widthwise by means of drop leaves which are housed inside. The latest project is the new Class Collection for Rampoldi Casa, a choice of solutions making up a multifarious series for the decor of a luxury house in the deco style, a roomset which is evergreen thanks to its diversity. In 2012 he creates its own brand ABCDE sign and proposes his personal innovative design making products which can be customized through those materials such as methacrylate with various incorporated materials, also on demand. He goes so far as to design and realize diversified products for a market focusing stronger and stronger on decorative and bespoke workings, thus trespassing the standard production and industrialization processes to obtain outputs meeting the most demanding needs. This has been done by exploiting the expertise collected in the design and interior decoration field in his position as a designer and production expert. The know-how gathered for techniques and materials helps him develop industrial items and bespoke interior products coming in a big variety of formal expressions, from design pieces to the new deco shapes, hinting at the classic world and designing room sets with handcrafted accuracy in all detailing. All products are durable and meant for the everyday use, thus creating positive ambiances where you can enjoy working and living.
